Skating Chiefs Split Pair on New York Trip

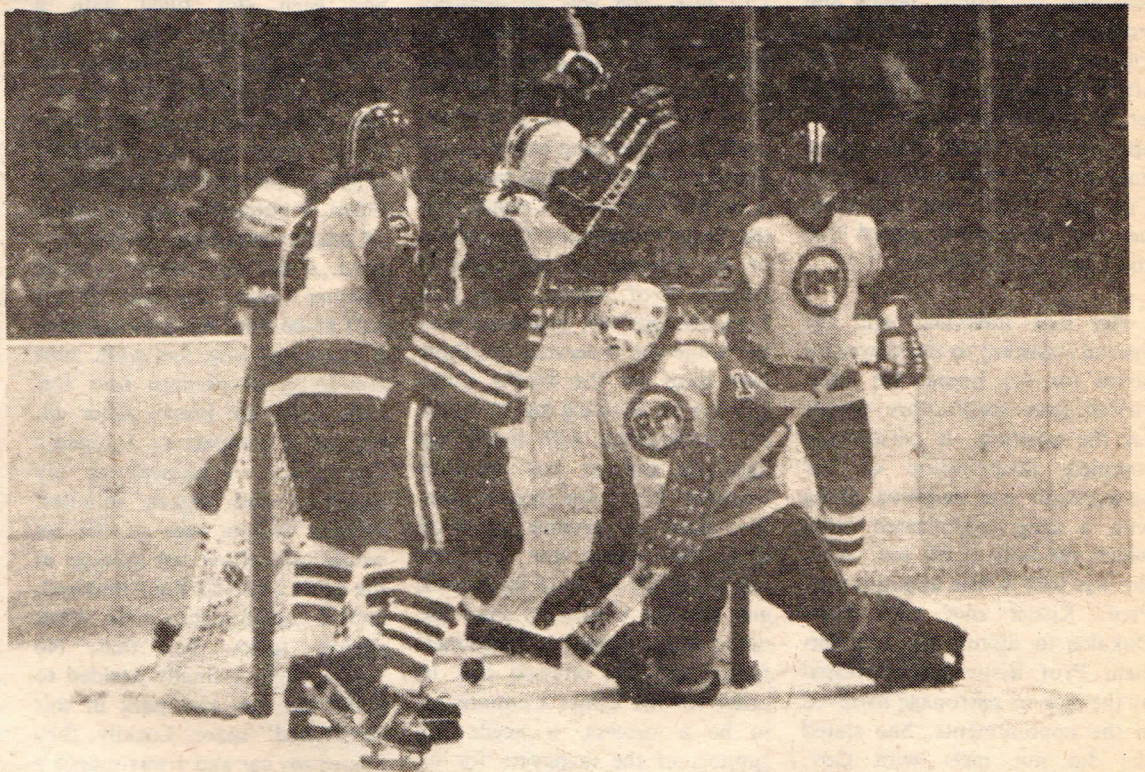

The ULowell skating Chiefs opened their 1978-79 season with a 10-2 loss to Division 1 powerhouse Clarkson College last Saturday night in Potsdam, New York. Showing the gruelling effects of their 6-4 upset victory over Division 1 contender R.P.I. in an exhibition game the night before, and also of a 400 mile road trip, the Chiefs ran out of gas in the third period as the Golden Knights unloaded with seven goals.

Behind the excellent goaltending of junior standout Brian Doyle, the Chiefs were down only 3-1 entering the disastrous third period. Brian kicked out 39 shots in the first two periods as Clarkson was relentless in their offensive attack. The Chiefs, meanwhile, had difficulty cracking Clarkson's defense, mustering only 10 shots on the Knights' goaltender in the first two periods. One was good for a score as junior center Ken McKee took a feed from Dave Sullivan and beat Clarkson's Ken More with a 15 foot wrist shot.

With Gene Hayes (40 stitches-elbow) and Bill Moffatt (Bruised shoulder) out injured, Coach Riley was forced to play with only four defensemen. Clarkson took advantage in the third period with three quick goals in the first four minutes to put the game out of reach. ULowell defenseman Mike O'Connor added another goal for the Chiefs with a slapshot from the point.

The Friday night victory over the R.P.I. Engineers should be the headliner this week. With balanced scoring and superb

Kistler Appointed to State Ethics Committee

Professor Linda H. Kistler of the Accounting Department has been appointed by Governor Dukakis to a three year term on the newly formed State Ethics Commission. The commission's purpose is to administer new financial disclosure laws by requiring that legislators, administrators, and county officials disclose their financial status in annual statements. Kistler's four colleagues of this five-member commission are: James Vorenberg Chairman of the commission, a Harvard Law School professor who was an assistant Watergate prosecutor, appointed by Gov. Dukakis; Jessie D. Deeley, an attorney also appointed by Gov. Dukakis; Marver H. Bernstein president of Brandeis University, appointed by Secretary of state Paul Guzzi; and David Brickman, publisher and editor of The Malden Evening News, The Medford Daily Mercury and the Melrose Evening News, appointed by Attny. General Francis X. Bellotti.

The Ethics Commission will provide a place for the public to turn to with information about corruption. The subpoena powers of the commission will allow them to investigate alleged violations of financial disclosures or conflict of interest statutes and recommend criminal prosecution by the attorney general's office. They have yet to establish a skilled professional staff and will begin developing a report form for Financial Disclosures.

Ball Hall Lacking Maintenance

Ball Hall, one of the Engineering buildings, has a serious lack of general maintenance. Maintenance of Ball is under the authority of the Director of the Physical Plant, Mr. Charles DeFilippo.

One major problem is poor ventilation. Fumes coming from the Plastics labs in the basement do not readily escape from the building due to an inadequate and malfunctioning ventilation system. Through the poor construction of the building, the fumes rise and permeate the entire area, and linger for hours until the place can be aired out. Mr. DeFilippo's "remedy" for this problem was to install some window fans in the labs which are absolutely useless.

An air compressor has been out of order for three years, so a substitute one has been installed in its place. It creates so much noise, however, that the students cannot hear the professor while he is talking.

The Plastics labs themselves are electrically underpowered and there are about three or four power failures a semester. A sink in one of the labs broke. Rather than repair or replace it, the maintenance staff just removed it altogether. The drainage system doesn't function properly, so if anything spills on the floor, it just stays there.

Numerous work orders and requests for repairs have been sent to Mr. DeFilippo but most of them were either ignored or dealt with insufficiently. For example there is a broken door that is taped together, and it's been that way for a year. Several other corridor doors are missing glass altogether. Approximately half of the emergency lighting system does not work. There are many missing light bulbs in classrooms and in the corridors, so that parts of the building are in darkness during the late afternoon and evening. The elevator breaks down frequently.

When it rains, the roof leaks in one area, and after a rain storm there are puddles on the floor. There has been no fire drill in three years. Many of the building's fire extinguishers need to be recharged, and there is a box in Evan's lounge marked "Fire Blanket" which is empty except for a deck of cards.

There is no regular custodial service. Trash is only collected once a week, and sometimes less than that. Junk is often just left lying around in the corridors. There are burnt out fluorescent light bulbs lying on the fourth floor.

Restrooms are another prob-

Student Parking Tickets:

What Happens to the Money?

Where does the money from all of those parking violations received on campus go? Anyone who has ever received an on-campus parking ticket will say that the fines go to the Lowell District Court of Clerks. This is true, however the money is not kept in the city treasury. It is in fact, returned to the University. Under a system first established in 1967 by Lowell Technological Institute the money is returned to the school and placed in a student scholarship fund. The Merger Legislation, which is the formal paperwork that united the two schools stipulated the continuance of the fund school wide, not just on one campus. As stated in the Legislation Chap. 75:

"All fines and penalties recovered for violations of rules and regulations shall be accounted by the Clerk of Court and forwarded to the Trustees of the University to be deposited in a scholarship trust fund."

The Scholarship Committee has the responsibility of making the awards. Mr. Walter Costello, Director of Financial Aid, stated that the awards which are given out once a year are determined on the basis of need.

In the past few years and on the average, two to three scholarships in the range of two hundred dollars are given out a year. Since the fund has been accumulating interest, Mr. Costello expects that the Committee may award more or larger size scholarships this year. There is approximately five thousand dollars in the fund right now. The Scholarship Committee will be meeting Nov. 17 to decide their annual awards.

University Council Here To Serve You

The University Council brings together faculty, staff, administration, representatives of the community and students. They have legislative authority over all University-wide academic policies. The Council has been in existence for a little over a year for the purpose of solving problems arising within the University by setting up a number of committees and making recommendations to the president and Board of Trustees. They also make standards for academic probation, required courses for graduation and the overall cumulative average needed for graduation.

Dr. Carol McDonough, head of the University Council, filled us in on a few of its accomplishments and aims.

"We have set up an Adhoc Committee (temporary committee that will dissolve when its purpose is fulfilled) for medical emergency procedures, because in certain parts of the University, people don't know where to call in case of an emergency...In the beginning of the semester, a student took sick in my office and there was no way to get immediate help. The nurse from the infirmary had trouble finding the building...There was a problem moving the student out to a security vehicle."

"The council has the responsibility of reviewing new programs. The programs of criminal justice and the Second Chance program came through the University Council."

"We will be setting up an Adhoc Committee on fee structure...For the University, the Committee would consider setting up fees for labs, library usage, and assorted others. It will be up to the committee to decide which will have a fee and what the fee will be."

When asked whether or not she had heard of the Student Senate's request that the University Council establish a committee to set up security, Dr. McDonough replied, "No...if the Senate asked us to, we certainly will be doing that. Anytime a matter like that comes to the attention of the Council, we set up a committee to deal with it."

She added, "It's important to realize the Council is there. If there's a problem in the University it is their duty to find a solution to the problem."

Common Cause to recommend individuals which he felt adequate for the position. Along with Prof. Kistler, he recommended several other members of our University. Common Cause later contacted Prof. Kistler and asked her if she would be interested in the position. Since she has been active on the board of Directors for Massachusetts Accounts for Public Issues and worked on the State Senate Ethics Code last year, she affirmatively replied. Prof. Kistler felt she had no chance for the appointment since she heard nothing for two months after Common Cause had contacted her and particularly stated that she knew no politicians.

Her first interview with the Special Assistant to the Governor lasted for 1½ hours. He interviewed over forty other people for the position. A personally complete investigation of her background was required along with a long complicated form which she had to fill out. After she was told of her appointment. Prof. Kistler met with Gov. Dukakis to discuss the appointment. Prof. Kistler was impressed by the lack of patronage involved in the appointments. She stated she did not meet with Gov. Dukakis until after her appointment was official. It was their first introduction. Prof. Kistler said, "He was very easy to talk to. He didn't have that stuffy feeling. Everybody called him Mike, except me, I called him Governor. I was too nervous."

She was sworn in on Friday, October 20, 1978. Immediately following was a press conference and the commission's first meeting. The meetings are announced in advance and are open to the public. They are held in the McCormick Building in Boston.

Prof. Kistler has been with the University Accounting Department since 1966, when under the LTI title. She was an assistant professor until 1974, when she obtained her full professorship. She was Vice-Chairman of the Institute Council for two years under LTI, has been active on the Faculty Committee and presently is on the University Council and the Dean's Advisory Committee of the College of Management Science. Prof. Kistler hopes that the University will cooperate with her while she is serving her three year term on the Ethics Commission by allowing her to lessen her involvement with University activities and to just continue teaching. When her term is over, she plans to become involved again. She stated that her term will hopefully be good for Lowell and also the University since the name of the school is mentioned frequently. She stressed that in order for the Ethics Commission to be a success, it needs the support of the taxpayers for its budget due to the fact that it is an independent commission.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Prof. Kistler on behalf of the student body and wish her the best of luck during her term.

How Compact?

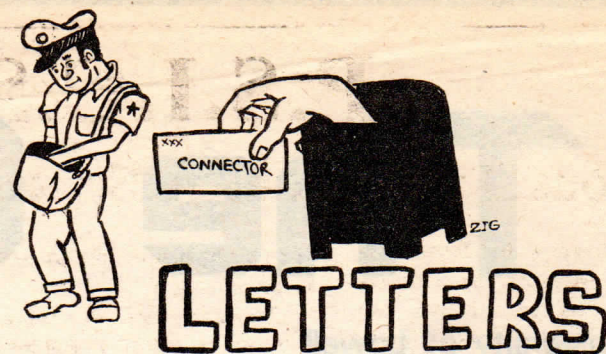

One day while tooling down the road in my long narrow station wagon, I pulled into the world-renowned University of Lowell parking lot. I was enraptured by its beauty: long dividers with trees and green-painted rocks, the neatly painted lines having supreme accuracy, and each slot filled with a glimmering steel vehicle. But where to park??? Peering at the sea of cars through my binoculars, I spotted a space ridiculously close to me. Carefully slipping into the lines, to avoid a ticket, I noticed a sign: Parking ..Compact cars only...Just what I need...I did not dare to invite another ticket, for fear of the stiff $3.00 fine. But how compact is compact? Five feet wide, nine feet long, or perhaps four feet high. I do not know. After all, my car is compact to a Lincoln Continental. I glanced at my watch...I had fifteen minutes. Driving to the rear of the lot would take about ten minutes at the posted 5MPH limit imposed, and I could then walk back slightly faster than that. No Good. Well, I finally decided to break the law and park in this "restricted" space. Luckily, they missed my car and I was spared a ticket. What does this all mean? In one word: RIDICULOUSNESS.

Don't Blame Boaz

It has come to our attention that in a recent write-in letter in the Lowell Connector that criticized the management of the Battle of the Bands, that some of the rowdiness and violence was caused by "people who had been bussed in" for this event.

We don't know what kind of misleading information this person acquired, and where this information was acquired from, but since the only people we know of that were bussed in were Boaz supporters, and since I am an alumni of the University of Lowell, I feel that we have the right to a rebuttal and this is it!

The Boaz supporters paid out of their own pocket to hire a bus for your Battle of the Bands. They came from the Lynn area which is no short ride to lend their support to Boaz. They paid their admission fee like everyone else, probably more since they were not students. These people conducted themselves in a very proper manner and had nothing to do with the rowdiness and violence. They are not the type of people who would embarrass our band. Boaz's music is not conducive to violence.

Why not get the story straight since it was apparent to all attending that the supporters of the Flaherty Brothers were the cause of this unbecoming behavior. Your own people made comment that if the Flaherty Brothers didn't win that they feared destruction of Cumnock Hall. We aren't pointing fingers but we do want matters clear.

Boaz has put on several of their own productions on many occasions. Attendance at these affairs has run up to 600 persons, and we have never had a case of this type of violence and rude behavior. Boaz also played last spring at the University of Lowell and there was no such rowdiness then either.

Boaz is a band that is made up of professional full-time musicians. We are well-known in the North Shore, New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, and play the Boston/Cambridge circuit continually. Our supporters are loyal and do not deserve the comment that they were contributing to this disturbance. If this is the type of student affairs that will be run in the future at the University of Lowell and if these totally untrue comments are going to be made, how many bands do you think will return to your college to play? A lot of us wondered why more well-known, entertaining bands did not enter this event. I think we got our answer loud and clear.

Sincerely,
—Joe Plassmann

Revisions of Undergraduate Policies

Revisions of undergraduate policies of the University approved at the end of the last academic year no longer permit students to repeat courses in which they receive grades of "CD" and "D" and to have repeated course grades substituted for original grades in the computation of cumulative grade-point averages.

Students who registered for course deletions during the Spring, 1978, registration period have been permitted to invoke the earlier regulation. This permission will be extended through the preregistration period of the Spring Semester, 1979, for those students who received grades of "CD" and "D" during the Spring Semester, 1978, or prior semesters. This extension will not apply to courses taken during the current academic year which have been graded "CD" or "D."

Current policy permits students to repeat courses in which they receive "F" grades and to have repeated course grades substituted for original failing grades in the computation of cumulative grade-point averages.

Serious Talk About A Serious Disease

Do you know the facts about Venereal Disease? For a disease that has reached epidemic proportions in the United States today, it is amazing how little the average person does know.

There are 2 prominent types of V.D. which most people have at least heard of. These are Gonorrhea and Syphilis. They CAN be treated if caught in time. Both microorganisms causing Gonorrhea and Syphilis die within seconds when outside the human body. Thus it is almost impossible to catch either of them from toilet seats, towels, etc. The only way that the microbe can survive being transferred from person to person is during very close physical contact, such as the contact that occurs during sexual acts.

Gonorrhea is the most commonly reported communicable disease. This disease can be transmitted to another person at all stages. Symptoms may be a discharge from the penis, vagina, or rectum, painful urination, and possibly a sore throat. Usually males will notice symptoms within 2 weeks after infection, if symptoms are going to occur at all. An important fact to know is that 80 to 85% of females who have Gonorrhea have NO SYMPTOMS!

If left untreated, severe damage to the reproductive organs may ensue, which may lead to sterility. If a woman has a baby while infected with Gonorrhea, there may be a serious infection in the baby's eyes which could lead to blindness. Today there is a law which requires that a certain type of eye drop be put into EVERY baby's eyes right after birth, just in case there may be an infection.

The test for Gonorrhea is relatively simple: a sample of vaginal, penile, rectal, or throat secretions is taken and examined. Treatment is sure if given out properly under medical supervision. Penicillin by injection is the first choice cure.

Syphilitic symptoms appear at different times. First, a painless sore called a chancre will appear at the site of infection. It may resemble a pimple or blister. This is Primary Syphilis. It may disappear very soon, and after about 2 months a rash may appear. A sore throat, swollen glands, falling out of hair, or fever may also be noticed. This is Secondary Syphilis. Many people do not notice or ignore their symptoms because they go away shortly after appearing.

If Secondary Syphilis is not treated, it will progress to Latent Syphilis, where there are no symptoms for many years. A person is no longer infectious when in this stage after about a year except in the case of a pregnant woman to her unborn child (Congenital Syphilis).

Eventually Tertiary Syphilis sets in where heart disease, blindness, deafness, and mental illness may result from the untreated infection.

A blood test specifically derived for Syphilis is done to verify the diagnosis of the disease. If a Syphilitic chancre is present, the organism causing the disease can be detected by microscopic examination.

The treatment for Syphilis is penicillin. The first 3 stages can be completely cured with no permanent damage, and destruction due to Tertiary Syphilis can be stopped.

Reinfection is always a possibility of V.D. You can also have both Gonorrhea and Syphilis at the same time. If you do have sexual contact with an infected person, you stand a 40 to 60% chance of being infected EXCEPT if you are on Birth Control Pills. Biochemical changes resulting from The Pill give a woman almost a 100% chance of contracting Gonorrhea.

If you think you might have V.D., seek immediate medical assistance. Be sure to urge your sexual partner(s) to do the same.

Everything relevant to V.D. cannot be said in these few words. If you would like more information, or think you might have V.D., contact the Peer Sexuality Information and Counseling Service (P.S.I.C.S.) at the University of Lowell at 453-3804. There you can get straightforward information and referrals from any member of the staff.

The Chiefs struck quickly again with two goals in the first three minutes of the final period. The score remained 6-3 until 19:38 mark when the Engineers added another goal. Last year's top scorers Craig MacTavish (1 goal, 1 assist) and Tom Jacobs (2 Goals) led the Chiefs attack. Rookie Tom Tidman from Ontario scored the game-winner in the second period. Other goal scorers for ULowell were Captain John Costello and freshman Kevin Charbonneau. R.P.I. outshot the Chiefs 50-31 in what was a penalty-marred, physical contest.

S.U.P.E. Clarifies Its Purpose

Many students on campus are under the impression that S.U.P.E. is a liberal arts organization. This misunderstanding has turned into a huge myth which we feel needs to be cleared up. Although the Park's reorganizational plan hits liberal arts students the hardest, we believe S.U.P.E. is a service organization to benefit every student who attends a public school. This can be pointed out by our four point platform which is a reflection of our beliefs and philosophy.

1. No budget cuts.

By this we mean no budget cuts in any department. We believe all seven colleges in this University are equally important. Money is available, money that is spent in areas other than academic. (Renovating the trustee's room is an example.) We do not want to take money away from engineering to give it to liberal arts.

2. No tuition.

We're sure every student can benefit from this point. The most prevalent question concerning this point is won't losing all this money raise taxes. When coupled with point number 3 it can be seen that the answer is no.

3. No public monies to private schools.

Little do most people realize that MOST of our tax money goes to private schools rather than public; private schools that receive billions of dollars in private endowments are subsidized by our tax dollars. This money is much more than is our combined tuition. Therefore, this rechanneling of money would easily compensate the state's loss concerning tuition.

4. We reject the ideas embodied in the Park's reorganizational plan or any similar plan.

This plan treats education as a commodity. Students are treated as output of a business in this working paper. It is S.U.P.E.'s philosophy that education should be more than a business; it is a necessary part of surviving in our complex society.

If you are interested in learning more about S.U.P.E. write Box 5007 or come to a meeting Tuesday in Allen Hall at 12:00.

The Physics of High Fidelity

The Department of Physics and Applied Physics will offer 80.251 "The Physics of High Fidelity" again in the Spring Semester of 1979. The course is particularly suited to non-science oriented students who are looking for a science elective course which will be of very practical value in addition to providing a broad background in physical concepts. It should also be of interest to the science or engineering student who wished to see the application of basic physics principles in the design and operation of an audio system.

Course No: 80.251

Credits: 3

Prerequisites: None

Semester: Spring 1979

Location: North Campus, Olney Science Center

Time: m,W,F 12:30 - 1:20 p.m.

Textbook: The Science of High Fidelity by Johnson and Walker, Kendall/Hunt Publishing Co. 1977

Instructor: Dr. James. J. Egan

The course will examine the physical principles underlying the design of high fidelity system components and recordings. Topics covered include the properties of waves, an analysis of musical sound, principles of static and current electricity, magnetism, electromagnetic waves and the laws of mechanics. These basic physics ideas will be incorporated into a description of the operating principles of: loudspeakers, preamplifiers and control centers, power amplifiers, turntables, moving magnet and moving-coil microphones, headphones, four-channel sound systems, equalizers, Dolby and other noise reduction systems, dynamic range - expanders, time - delay ambience simulation devices, tuners, and radio broadcasting.

The course will enable even the non-science oriented student to evaluate and understand the jargon filled specification sheets for hi-fi equipment. It will therefore entail consumer education useful to anyone contemplating the expenditure of a substantial sum of money on equipment with which he or she may have to sette and cartridge tape recorders, photo cartridges, open reel, cassette and cartridge tape recorders,

INTERESTED IN AN MBA or MPA?

Suffolk University Representative will be on campus Friday, December 1st, from 10:00am until 2:30pm to talk with any students interested in seeking a Master's in Business Administration (MBA) or a Master's in Public Administration (MPA). For an appointment, contact Dr. LaMark, Office of Career Counseling & Placement.

MFA Sponsors Career Day

The Museum of Fine Arts will sponsor a special one-day event called New England Art/Careers Portfolio Day on Saturday, November 18. More than 1,200 students, parents, and guidance counselors are expected to attend this event for people interested in learning more about careers and training in the visual arts.

Representatives of over 30 leading art schools from throughout the United States will visit the second annual Art Careers/Portfolio Day to be held in New England. The host schools for the event are the Massachusetts College of Art and the School of the Museum of Fine Arts. From 10 am to 4 pm visitors will have the opportunity to discuss career plans and show their art portfolios to representatives of the schools, all of which are accredited by the National Association of Schools of Art.

Professional artists will create environmental art and there will be six panel discussions offering a broad view of career possibilities in the visual arts. Shuttled buses will provide free transportation between the Museum, the Museum School, and the Massachusetts College of Art where the various activities will be taking place.

"There is no better opportunity available to learn about training in the visual arts than at this unique day," said Dr. Jan Fontein, Director of the Museum of Fine Arts. "One would have to travel the entire country to meet all the art school representatives who will be present in Boston on November 18th."

Some of the participating schools include: The Minneapolis College of Art & Design, The Parsons School of Design (N.Y.), The Louisville School of Art, The California College of Arts and Crafts, and The School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

For additional information about the event contact the high school in your community or call: Gene Ward at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, (617) 267-9300, ext. 497.

Landscape Exhibit Opens at ULowell

A new exhibit, "Landscape Images by Women Artists opens at Gallery 410 of the University of Lowell, November 15 through December 13. The exhibition shows drawings and paintings by ten prominent women artists of the Lowell and Boston area.

Selected and arranged by Dr. Liana Cheney of the University Art Department, the exhibit includes works of Judith Berman, Priscilla Burlingham, Martha Cain, Renee Collins, Shirley Levy, Ann Northrup, Susan Philips, Brenda Pinardi, Sarah Supplee, and Jo Ann Young.

According to Cheney, "Landscape did not come into its own in America as an independent theme, until the nineteenth century, with the Hudson River School and the Luminist School. It can depict descriptive elements, structural settings, decorative or allegorical images, or be expressive of a mood."

Various styles and media are represented in this group show. Realistic portrayals of nature as well as abstracts are rendered in pencil, charcoal, watercolor, pastel, and acrylic.

An opening reception with the artists is scheduled for November 15 from 4:00 PM to 6:00 PM at the gallery, and the public is invited to attend. Regular viewing is possible weekdays from 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM beginning November 16. Gallery 410 is located in the south campus Student Union Building at Broadway and Wilder Streets, Lowell.

Your Mother Was A Zebra

A large cup of cola has just descended from the balcony section directly above your seat. The drunk sitting behind you is in such a state that you wonder how long it will be before your back is covered by used vodka. The home team is losing and you're in the kind of mood that even an occasional glance towards the cheerleaders won't cheer you up. It seems that nothing is going right. You wonder what else can happen. You ponder the building caving in or at the very least, the balcony collapsing.

A penalty is called and the entire section to your right repeatedly chants, "Bullshit! Bullshit!". A deep, threatening voice from the section to your left bellows out, "Hey ref, you suck!" and then, "There's two teams out there!". From above, you hear, "The ref blows funny whistles!". As tennis balls, beer cans, and a plucked chicken rain down onto the playing surface, you begin to get caught up in the hysteria.

A fight breaks out down below and those around you get up on their feet. The crowd reaches the brink of insanity. Bloodthirsty comments and cheers can be heard from all around. The officials gain some sort of order amongst the combatants and the penalties are announced over the loudspeaker. The penalties aren't exactly agreeable to you or to the maniacs in and around your area. Chants of "Bullshit!" begin to grow louder and louder. Out of the depths of your inner being, possibly a part of you that is directly connected to early primitive man, comes a vicious cry of anger that is so full of malice that it is almost beyond written words.

"Your mother was a zebra!", you cry out.

Those in your immediate vicinity stop and look towards you in utter shock. You are in shock yourself. You can't believe you said that. Now, the inebriated person behind you begins to yell, "Zebra! Zebra!". Other pick up the chant and in ever increasing numbers, the taunting continues. The building begins to shake from the vicious zebra yell. You grab a bottle and flee from your seat. You head for the dubious safety of the restrooms. Once there, you ask yourself, "What have I done? How can I ever forgive myself?", as you down the last shot of Smirnoff...

November Hath Thirty Days

The Pregnant Earth
Has lost her child,
November's winds
Have an abortion wrought.

The trees, too,
Have lost their offspring,
Autumn's drought
Has dead leaves brought.

Turkeys' heads
Roll on the ground,
Man stuffs his face

New England lies still
Only the chimneys breathe,
Her people are all asleep
Death is Earth's new lover.

—Seamus MacLoughreann

"What Happened to Play"

Mi, Jennie, what happened to play?
Hush, little one, work on for soon we'll be home to rest.
But, mi, Jennie, I am so tired and weary, must I still work on?
Yes, my little one, there's yet one more row to hoe and then surely we'll home.
But mi Jennie, if we must work till then, the sun will be gone and it will be too dark for me to play and
I so do want to play.
Hush, my little one, Jennie will read you a special story tonight just you wait and see.....
Little does the child know that when the day is done, she'll be much too tired and will easily fall asleep.....
And so go the promises that Jennie means to keep.

Puzzle Number 3

For this week's math puzzle you will need a calculator. 15 politicians, 46 lobbyists, 9 bankers met to see how they could share 20,000 acres of off-shore leases and they talked with 40 senators and 150 civil servants and 47 influential stock brokers and 473 investors. What company did they form?

The answer to the first puzzle was 49, there were no winners. The solution to the second puzzle was 3 cigarettes per day. The winner is Roy Tetreault, box 1963.

Remember the deadline to submit and answer is next Thursday noon at my box, 1086.

P.S. Thanks for the overwhelming success of our bake sale!

—Jerry Groccia

Popular Music Access Club

A new club this year, the PMAC has for its main goal making music more accessible to those enthusiasts who cannot readily truck into Bean Town to buy music. This club has something for everyone in that it supplies sheet and book music for those who read and perform music as well as those seeking lyrics only. It is also beneficial for those who simply enjoy music in that as soon as we have an office, those who come to play can serve as entertainment for those who come to enjoy. On November 8th, $196.19 was spent in Carl Fischer's of Boston to purchase book music to form the beginning of a music library. The pile of music purchased measures 16 inches when stacked; so you can see that much more music is needed. We do, however, have a fair sampling which is available for use even now.

The first thing we would like to do is make available a time during which membership may be obtained. This time is now. Drop a note in box 5057 S this week with your name, box number, local phone# and your available evening times for meetings. The current officers of the club will process the information and drop a note back to you or post a meeting time in the Connector.

AICHE News

Hello Engineering students, especially those in Chemical Engineering. With exams almost here there is still plenty of time to socialize, meet people and learn more about engineering. Our last meeting was a very profitable one. This is the final run down of events for this semester: The plant trip to Stauffer R&D and Mobil Chemical Co., will take place Nov., 30. The sign up sheet with details will be posted on the Chemical Engineering Bulletin board (second floor EB) on Nov. 17. Don't forget to sign up if you are interested in going. Friday Dec. 1st the Boston AICHE section will hold a meeting in Boston. A speaker from Mobil Tyco Solar Energy Corp. will be talking about "Electricity from the Sun". The $4.50 admission fee will be partly financed from the AICHE or Chemical Engineering funds.

Wed., Dec. 6, our annual AICHE banquet will take place at Walbrooks; $5.40 for non-members, and $4.00 for members—the difference will be paid out of AICHE and Tappi funds. Everyone is welcome, if you are interested please sign up soon, pay your class representative or come to the Chemical Engineering department.

AICHE/TAPPI

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry will co-sponsor the Annual Awards Banquet to be held at the Walbrook, Wednesday evening, December 6, 1978. Happy Hour begins at 6:00 pm. There will be a guest speaker along with the traditional scholarship awards. The banquet will be semi-formal with a buffet style dinner. First of all I want to thank everybody that helped to make the Blood Mobile a success. The Red Cross received 162 pints of blood, our goal was 150. Thanks to everyone that was able to donate. I know that you all realize that it was for more than a worthy cause. It's a good feeling to know that we have concerned students. I hope to see more involved at the next Blood Mobile.

Now I want to let you all know what the up and coming events are. First on the agenda, we are having a raffle on November 14th, for Thanksgiving. The tickets are 3 for $1.00, and $.50 a piece. The first prize will be a 20 lb. turkey, second - 10 lb. turkey, and third a bottle of Wild Turkey. The results will be posted later.

On November 21st, Dr. Lemar will give a lecture on Interviewing Techniques. I believe that it will be in Weed Hall, but right now I do not have the exact room. It will be at 11:30, the room will be posted. It is open to all.

On December 12th, we'll be having Career Day. We've been working on it very hard, and we hope to see you all there. Also the final plans have been set for our Dinner Dance in the Spring. It will be on April 6th, at Andover Country Club. We will plan on having a chicken dinner. It should be a good time. There has been a lot of work put into this, so we hope that when it comes up you will all support it. Besides it's a great time.

Well our next meeting is on December 5th. I hope to see as many people that can make it come. Besides, we're interested in hearing from you. If you can't do something for us, maybe we can do something for you.

Chinese Student Circle

The Chinese Student Circle Hot Dog Day held on November 6th was truly a great success!

Much appreciation and thanks goes especially to Stanley Woo for sponsoring the capital needed for the food and supply expenses. Also, deep gratitude to: Justin Wong for his supporting guidance and experience with Hot Dog Day; Dr. Wong and Dr. Lee for their advice; and to everyone who helped out last Monday.

It was certainly worth the effort since everyone involved had a good time, too— plus the warm sunny weather was enjoyable!

The Chinese Student Circle Hot Dog Day was such a great success that we still had many requests for more hot dogs even after the last hot dog was sold!

Mountaineering #1.

FUNDAMENTALS OF MOUNTAINEERING

What is mountaineering all about? Funny you should ask. Because we just happen to have an answer. (Ah-h, life's little coincidences.) Mountaineering is a skill, a science and an art. Yet anyone with a thirst for excellence and normally developed motor skills can master it. Simply study these fundamentals and follow them faithfully.

1. Step one, appropriately enough, starts by selecting the correct site. To do so, pick up a bottle of Busch. This is commonly called heading for the mountains.

2. Okay, here's where the fun begins. Hold the mountain firmly in your left hand, grasp the mountain top with your right hand and twist the little fella off. There you go.

3. Now for the tricky part. Neophytes, listen up: the proper pour is straight down the center of the glass. Only in this way will the cold, invigorating taste of the mountain come to a head.

4. Once poured, pacing becomes paramount. As any seasoned mountaineer will tell you, the only way to down a mountain is slowly, smoothly and steadily - savoring every swallow of the brew that is Busch. If you're a bit awkward at first, don't be discouraged. Perfection takes practice. Soon enough, having emptied your glass and filled your soul, you too will be a mountaineer.

Chief Hoopsters Prepared For Rugged Schedule

The University of Lowell basketball team faces the most ambitious schedule in the school's history in their second year of Division II play. Division I Northeastern, and Division II foes American International, Bates and Quinnipiac have been added to the schedule replacing Seton Hall, Toronto, Fitchburg State and Plymouth State, the latter three having been routed by the Chiefs last year. Also, the Chiefs have been invited to participate in this year's edition of the prestigious Sacred Heart Christmas Tournament, which will include such heavies as Bridgeport, St. Michaels, New Haven and host Sacred Heart. The slate already includes powerhouses Merrimack (22-6), Bryant (20-6), Coast Guard (19-4), Brandeis (18-5), and Springfield (16-7).

Ready to meet this challenge are the third year tandem of head coach Tony Romano and assistant Larry Kelleher. The return of four starters and eight lettermen from last year's 11-13 club make the outlook bright. Gone is senior captain Mark Grabowski, a four year starter and superb defensive player who holds the school scoring record with 994 career points. But "Grabo" returns to Lowell and will serve as a sub varsity coach.

All four returning starters were twin digit scorers for the Chiefs last year. Co-captain Chris Prince and 6'3" forward Steve Oliver both return for their final campaign after averaging 15.7 points per outing last season. Both Prince (948) and Oliver (943) will pass the coveted 1000 point mark early this year, barring injury, thus becoming the first two in school history to do so. Look for sophomores Darren Foster (14.8 PPG last year) and Stan Whetstone to reek havoc and confusion among the opposition this year now that they both

Chiefs Upset In Season Finale

The ULowell football season ended in Providence last Saturday as an inspired Friar defense held the Chiefs offense to a mere 89 yards for the day in scoring a 15-5 upset victory over the Chiefs. The loss ended the Chiefs' chance to defend their National Championship Title as Providence was selected to play in the Championship Playoff game.

The Friars opened the scoring in the first period as Mike Geritono hit on a 24-yard field goal. Providence upped the score to 9-0 as Mike Lee ran the ball in from the 1-yard line. The try for the 2 point conversion failed and the score remained 9-0.

The Chiefs got on the board late in the second quarter. Matt Fitzgerald's 32 yard field goal cut the lead to 9-3. The rest of the half went scoreless.

In the second half the Chief defense reduced the Friars lead to 9-5. Mike Chisholm and Rick Cleary sacked the quarterback Lee in the endzone for a safety.

Providence put the game away late in the fourth quarter as Lee again ran the ball in from the 1. The try for 2 points again failed and the score ended at 15-5.

The Chiefs closed off the season by regaining their league title with a 7-1 conference record and a 7-2 overall. A bowl-bid still remains a possibility pending the conference meeting which will be held on Monday.

ULowell Wrestlers Start Well

The Chief's wrestling team recently participated in the annual pre-season tournament at Springfield College. The tournament was attended by over three hundred wrestlers, making it the largest college tournament in New England history.

Outstanding efforts were turned in by several members of the team, namely Bill Rawnsley, who placed fourth at 190 lbs., although wrestling up a class. He defeated, among others, the NEIWA third place winner from Springfield as well as a two-time Rhode Island state champion. Frank Lopilato nearly gained the semi-finals at 134 lbs. losing a heartbreaking overtime decision 2-1. However, Frank handily defeated two other opponents including NEIWA place winner Soares of Rhode Island College.

Dick McClure also narrowly missed gaining the semi-finals at 134 lbs. due to an official's inability to recognize a successful Granby Roll. Thus, Dick, who had earlier pinned both his opponents, fell victim to his opponent and the referee 10-8.

Looking at other squad members, at 118 lbs. Bob Kohl scored a really nice fall and Jim Gore also performed well. Brian Mackey gained valuable experience at 126 lbs. John Gantley dropped a squeaker 6-5 at 150 lbs. Tom Kearney was eked out 5-2 also at 150 lbs. John Pittman wrestled well at 167 lbs. Chuck Radevich gained experience in a close 3-0 loss at 177 lbs. Dan Wicks wrestled his first match in two years at 190 lbs. Dave Gagnon split a pair of matches at heavyweight. Terry Briggs unfortunately stretched his knee, also in a heavyweight match.

In looking forward to the November 29 showdown with U.N.H., the Chiefs are starting to round into shape. One recent windfall addition is Lowell's Frank Hogan, a N.H. State Champ at Bishop Guertin High as well as a fourth place finisher in the high school New England's.

With no less than five or six freshmen starters, the Chiefs look green, but extremely hardworking and eager. So mark down Wed. Nov. 29 on your calender to come on down and support the wrestling Chiefs.

Oliver filling the lanes at the other end.

The other returning lettermen are 6'2 senior guard Matt McCafferty, junior co-captain Peter Forbes, a 6'5 forward, 6'4 sophomore forward Brian Coke, and 6' sophomore guard Peter Ortiz. McCafferty is a fine defensive player whom coach Romano calls upon to neutralize a hot opposition shooter. Forbes, a scrappy Irishman who never gives up, is the type of player who might score 14 points in a game, but you would insist you only saw 4 of them. Coke is an outstanding leaper who spends most of his time in the stratosphere. Ortiz is so quick that he can almost tell an opponent he is going right and then beat him right.

Two returning non-lettermen and five newcomers round out this year's squad. Fred McCall, a 6'7 junior center with a soft outside shooting touch, and 6'6 forward Joe Hadad, who is a tough rebounder, move up to full time varsity status after splitting their time with both the varsity and the sub-varsity last year. There are four freshmen on this year's club. Two of these are guards: Gary Coyne, a fine outside shooter from Laconia, New Hampshire who was red-shirted last year due to pre-season injury; and Doug Grutchfield from Burlington, who possesses swingman possibilities. The others are forwards Fred Hill, a 6'4 product of Bridgeport, Connecticut who rebounds well and has strong inside moves, and Rick Tienhaara, a graduate of Fitchburg High whose game is bigger than his 6'6 stature would indicate. The other newcomer is 6'8, 245 pound Julius Baskys, a sophomore transfer from U.N.H. where he played varsity ball as a freshman. Baskys becomes eligible to play after Christmas, which means his first game as a Chief will be in the Sacred Heart Tourney.

Coach Romano makes no predictions. Looking ahead, he says: "We have already earned the respect of our rivals in Division, but the task at hand is to gain prestige, a goal that will not be easy. There are no pushovers on the schedule." Romano lists scoring, rebounding, and experience as team strengths and includes backcourt depth and team defense as the question marks.

The season opens on Saturday, November 25 against Bentley College at 7:30 at Costello Gym. Sub varsity tap-off is at 5:30. Why not be there and see the Chiefs embark on the road to prestige in Division II.
